Ständchen

poem by Ludwig Rellstab

Ständchen

Leise flehen meine Lieder
Durch die Nacht zu Dir;
In den stillen Hain hernieder,
Liebchen, komm' zu mir!

Flüsternd schlanke Wipfel rauschen
In des Mondes Licht;
Des Verräters feindlich Lauschen
Fürchte, Holde, nicht.

Hörst die Nachtigallen schlagen?
Ach! sie flehen Dich,
Mit der Töne süßen Klagen
Flehen sie für mich.

Sie verstehn des Busens Sehnen,
Kennen Liebesschmerz,
Rühren mit den Silbertönen
Jedes weiche Herz.

Laß auch Dir die Brust bewegen,
Liebchen, höre mich!
Bebend harr' ich Dir entgegen;
Komm', beglücke mich!

Serenade

*Softly my songs plead through the night to you;
down into the silent grove,
beloved, come to me!*

*Slender treetops whisper and rustle
in the moonlight;
my darling, do not fear that the hostile betrayer will overhear us.*

*Do you not hear the nightingales call?
Ah, they are imploring you;
with their sweet, plaintive songs
they are imploring for me.*

*They understand the heart's yearning,
they know the pain of love;
with their silvery notes
they touch every tender heart.*

*Let your heart, too, be moved,
beloved, hear me!
Trembling, I await you!
Come, make me happy!*

“Ständchen” is a poem by Ludwig Rellstab (1799–1860) that was originally set by Franz Schubert as part of Schwanengesang (Swan Song), D 957, a collection of 14 songs composed in 1828 at the end of his life and published posthumously in 1829, a few months after the composer’s death.

My setting of this text was inspired by the form Schubert used in his song cycle, Schwanengesang—an ABABC form. I’ve focused on the drama inherent in the text, and brought out the melancholy nature at times, reflecting the anticipation and strong desire of the singer, amplified and answered by textures, melodic fragments, and harmony in the piano throughout. —Scot Crandal (Dec, 2022)
